

NEW PENSION PROGRAM FOR LOCAL OIL WORKERS

S. O. ANNUITY PLAN TO AID EMPLOYEES

Starting December 1st, the Standard Oil company, will put into effect a new annuity (pension) that will permit the employees of the company to provide for themselves, and their dependents, after retirement.

Under the provisions of the new plan, employees can provide themselves with annuities ranging from $66 to $103 per month, according to the number of years of service.

The old plan ceases to be effective November 30, 1933.

FOR ALL WORKERS

The new plan will be extended to all regular employees of Standard Oil of California, Pasotex Pipe Line company, Standard Gasoline company, Standard Oil of California (Utah) and the California Company. From time to time the plan may be extended to other subsidiaries, who participate in its cost.

The plan is one of those humanitarian measures for which the company has been noted, during a long period of years. The plan shows that the company always has an interest in the welfare of its thousands of employees and is doing its share to provide for old age competence.

Continue Insurance Plan
The annuity plan is distinct and separate from the life insurance and sickness disability benefits, which have been in effect since 1927. With slight modifications, the company is continuing the insurance plan.

Kingsbury Explains
K. R. Kingsbury, the president of the company, in making the announcement, issued the following statement, which explains the working of the new plan:

"The Board of Directors of this company has always considered it of great importance that there should be some plan pursuant to which employees would look forward to an assured income for themselves, and their dependents, when their working days are over. For many years the company has maintained a non-contributory pension plan for employees who have grown old in the service. Experience has shown that the mounting cost of that plan over the years to come would make the plan financially impracticable from the company's point of view.

"The principle of providing an income after retirement, remains as vital as before, and therefore

Race Track At San Pablo Is Yet Possible

William P. Kyne, racing promoter, may yet turn back to his San Pablo site for a horse racing plant.

Following a binformal meeting of the racing commission in San Francisco, Kyne was instructed to re-submit his application for a race permit, once denied to him. The promoter declared that he will "go it alone" if he is granted a permit, denying that he might affiliate himself with Dr. Charles A. Strub.

Kyne declared that if he is denied a permit for a San Mateo county plant, where he would like to build, that he will return to his original program and ask for a permit for a track at San Pablo. Kyne was granted a franchise for a San Pablo track by the supervisors and obtained an option on a tract of land there.

Bids Are Opened On Avenue Paving

According to press dispatches received yesterday, the Peninsula Paving company of San Francisco submitted low bids for the paving of San Pablo avenue in El Cerrito, Albany and Berkeley.

The firm bid $74,907.50 for the five mile job. The paving includes the center strip of the street formerly occupied by street car tracks.

LOCAL MEN TO BE PUT AT WORK

A number of unemployed, unskilled laborers will be put to work in Richmond in about two weeks it was announced late yesterday following a conference held in San Francisco between Col. John Skegg, state highway engineer and City Engineer Ed Hoffman and Supervisor James Long.

Help Unskilled Workers
It was explained that the program will be mainly for the benefit of the unskilled workman who has been hardest hit by the depression.

Just how many men will be employed here is not known as yet. At least 30, however, will be given jobs, it was stated.

State Directs Work
All work will be under the direction of the state, with state employees supervising the workmen. Laborers will be recruited in this city.

The local program outlined by Hoffman yesterday calls for employing of men on local streets. Gutters and storm drains will be cleaned, parkways will be improved. Hoffman stated that many men could be employed on this work if money were available.

$15,000 for District
An approximate sum of $40,000 will be spent in Contra Costa (Continued on Page 3)

VIVID STORY IS TOLD BY NURSE WELTZ

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 16.—UP—Freda Wilhelmowa Weltz, 43-year-old world war nurse, told a jury in her murder trial here today that E. J. M. Grace, wealthy shipper whom she killed, had originally attacked her.

Her eyes were wet with suppressed tears and her hands were twisting nervously. The San Francisco and Philadelphia juries admitted shooting Grace, but said she had intended to kill herself.

She told a vivid story of asserted drug addiction and an attack and illness of avoiding motherhood. It was a story she had withheld stubbornly since her arrest on the Grace estate, September 9, shortly after a bullet wounded the elderly man.

Mrs. Weltz said Grace hired her on June 7, 1932, to nurse him while he "sobered up." They went to Grace's cabin in the mountains and had wine to drink, the defendant said.

She declared the next thing she knew was when she awoke the next morning to learn she and been bruised and assaulted.

She said she felt as though she had been drugged. The nurse declared that Mrs. Grace came into the room and Grace admitted responsibility but (Continued on Page 3)

Drum Corps of Eagle Lodges to Meet Here

Richmond will be host on January 3 to the annual California Field Music of Eaglesdom, according to an announcement made last evening at a meeting of the Point Richmond lodge of Eagles.

More than a dozen drum corps are expected to attend the affair and will compete for prizes. The local drum corps, headed by Andrew L. Antifolho will participate.

Complete details of this affair will be made public at a future date. The annual Christmas party of the lodge was also discussed. Committees will be named in the near future.

Attention was called to the general initiation which will be held at Crockett on November 28, under the auspices of the county council of Eagles.

Angelo Pelly presided over last night's meeting.

Local Mens Club to Go to Oakland

A number of Richmond men plan to attend the session of the St. James' Men's club to be held at St. James' Parish hall, East Sixteenth and Twelfth avenue at Oakland this evening.

Joseph Baker, president of the St. Edmund's mens club will head the local delegation and will be in charge of transportation.

Congressman Will Talk to Rotarians

Congressman Ralph Elste of Berkeley will be guest speaker at the session of the Richmond Rotary club today at Hotel Carquinez. The congressman will take about "Legislation and Inflation."

Hart Slayer is Held

ABOVE SHOWS J. M. "Jack" Holmes, whom police say confessed to the kidnaping and slaying of Brooke Hart, 22 year old San Jose youth, manacled to the arms of a department of justice agent as he leads the way to San Mateo bridge, where the body of the boy was thrown into the bay. Below shows dragging operations off the San Mateo bridge as authorities yesterday fruitlessly sought the body of the slain Santa Clara heir. (Further exclusive pictures will be found on other pages of the RECORD-HERALD.)

Local Woman Is Injured By Hit Run Car

Mrs. Jean Montermand, 728 Wilson avenue, was treated at Hospital Richmond last night by Dr. L. A. Hedges after she had been struck by a hit and run drier.

The woman suffered a broken ankle and numerous cuts and bruises. She was later removed to her home.

Mrs. Montermand had gotten off a bus at Forty-first street and Macdonald avenue and was crossing the avenue when struck by a passing car. The driver did not stop to render aid.

No clues were found to aid police in the search for the driver. The woman was brought to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Trapped Kidnappers Bare All Details Of Death To Officials

SAN JOSE, Nov. 16.—UP—Two alleged kidnappers who assertedly killed Brooke Hart, 22, Santa Clara University graduate and son of one of San Jose's wealthiest families, and calmly set about to extort $40,000 ransom from his father were taken to San Francisco for safe keeping today after both of them confessed.

The prisoners, Thomas J. Thurmond, alias Owens, and J. M. Holmes, an unemployed oil worker, were arrested last night and early today after Federal secret service operatives intercepted a telephone call Thurmond was making to the paternal Hart home. The call came from a garage. Officers rushed there and found Thurmond talking. He assertedly was demanding the ransom.

TAKEN BY POLICE

He was seized and taken to the sheriff's office. After a night of questioning he allegedly implicated Holmes and the latter was arrested. Brought face to face both men confessed.

Thurmond said they accosted young Hart last Thursday evening after he left his millionaire father's big department store to meet him at the San Jose country club. Thurmond said Holmes forced Hart to get into the county while he followed in his Chevrolet. There they forced Hart into the Chevrolet, then drove towards San Mateo 20 miles north.

Killed Boy With Brick

From San Mateo they turned onto the eight-mile long San Mateo bridge. Hart's arms were bound with baling wire. Thurmond said Holmes hit Hart over the head with a brick. Then he hit him again, stunning him. Thurmond said. They threw the body into the waters beneath the bridge. Thurmond then drove to San Francisco where he placed a ransom call. Holmes returned to San Jose.

"We demanded $40,000," he said. "It made no difference to us that Hart was dead. We still thought we could collect."

No Motive Is Given

Thurmond gave no motive for the murder. Sheriff William J. Emig said he believed (Continued on Page Eight)

High School To Give Big Fete Tonite

The Richmond Union high school students will entertain this evening at 8 o'clock at their semi-annual program at the school theatre. It was announced yesterday. The program will include two one-act comedies and a dance act.

The curtain riser for the program will be an accordion duet by Jo. Michels and Theresa Glisio.

The first of the plays is the "Kelly Kid," written by Dan Toheroh and Kathleen Norria. The play deals with the gossip of three old ladies about a notorious member of the neighborhood's younger population by the name of Robble Kelly. Very amusing situations occur when the "Kelly Kid" himself enters, seeking refuge from policemen. Ellen Murphy, the daughter of one of the gossiping women, adds to the humor of the situation by (Continued on Page Eight)

Local Lodge Plans Huge Demonstration

One of the biggest events in the year for the newly organized Richmond Macabees will be held December 2 at their lodge hall on Macdonald avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets. It was announced last night.

A large, public initiation is scheduled by the organization. Admission will be by card only.

Neighboring Macabees lodges from Oakland, Berkeley, San Francisco, San Jose and Albany will be invited to attend. The event is expected to draw hundreds of lodge men to this city.

The initiation ceremonies will be held on the stage of the hall. It was stated.

Code Violators to be Prosecuted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—UP—Code violation prosecution against oil dealers in many parts of the country are being prepared after an indictment was returned in New York against a Brooklyn filling station.

"We are going after little fellows and big operators as well," Lewis H. Galves, chief of the investigation bureau said.

San Pablo Fire Department to Hold Big Ball

The sixth annual grand ball of the San Pablo Volunteer Fire department takes place Saturday night at Maple hall.

Arrangements in the hands of a committee have been made to give all attending a grand good time. Gay's Red Pepper orchestra will furnish the music for this occasion and the lovers of good music will find music in their shoes they never had before.

The proceeds from these entertainments go into a fund for the benefit of the volunteers who may meet with misfortune in their line of duty.

A large number of tickets have been sold, assuring the affair will be a success.

Y. M. I. Group Will Nominate New Officers

Nomination of officers to be held at the next meeting of the organization was planned last evening when Burke council of Y. M. I. convened at Memorial hall.

Plans were made by the organization for its joint communion with the Y. L. I. and the Knights of Columbus, which will be held on December 3.

The affair will be held at St. John's church in El Cerrito and breakfast will follow at Pottier's Place, Mass. will be at eight o'clock. Hugh Smith presided over the meeting.

RINGING THE HOOPS

BY CHARLES GLUM

Caesar Bertone and Rowdy Dyer have lined up Joe Baldwin, Joe Viano and Westman as the nucleus of a first class team to represent this city in the Contra Costa county league. It is a matter of conjecture as to whose banner this outfit will fly but for the past three seasons they have tossed their hat in the ring with the Connell Chevrolets. This team has been going through the motions on the local high school court and should get the first jump on competitors.

The "Three C's" from San Pablo Dam camp of the Civilian Conservation Corps, are now at their full strength. Team work and drilling in fundamentals have been stressed by Coach Lt. Bolles. These youths have the makings of a team that should cause opponents plenty of worry. When Lt. Bolles has weeded his squad down into combinations representing the choice of the camp the boys will be sent to town and measured for flashy uniforms. (Just another fine example of how Uncle Sam takes care of his youthful wards.)

A young fellow that should cut quite a slice in the swath of opposing hoopers on the local high school's schedule is Don Bignall. This youngster is even faster on the court than he is on the gridiron. His play at forward has always been sensational. A good "feeder" will make Bignall one of the lead-laz goovers in Alameda County Athletic play.

There are but a few minor details to readjust in the personnel, schedule and officials before the Richmond City League gets under way the latter part of this month.

It has been rumored that the Crockett C. Y. O. quintets may seek application in the City League. The affirming of this rumor would just about make the City League the best in years, from an attendance and financial standpoint. What with the "Sugar City" rooters on hand and the 225 strong from the Civilian Conservation camp as spectators, the grandstands would be jammed to near capacity.

When baseball, football and other sports pass into the discard one has to take but one glance down the sidelines of a basketball court to find "ancient" Art Muth working out on the court. Old Art seems never to lose interest in the casaba throwers. Last year Art was a stellar figure with the Garfinkle Blacks—former champions of the city.

Muth's defending champions may find th egoing a bit tougher this semester, but the way Art installs his fighting spirit into his mates it would not be surprising to see them repeat their performance of last year.

Tab Bob Faust as a coming star in the loop this year. He has signed with the Ben Maliks. The Maliks have entered in the B division.

Attorney Death Due to Arsenic Put In Liquor

STOCKTON, Nov. 16.—UP—Arsenic from an "estate" mixed with whiskey apparently killed A. H. Carpenter Saturday and caused serious illness of his law partner, B. M. Bainbridge, State Chemist R. S. Greene reported tonight.

Green told Assistant District Attorney Raymond M. Dunne he had traced the poison in the contents of Carpenter's stomach, and had also found it in a bottle of liquor from which the men drank.

City Chemist Leon Happpel had not reported his finding in an independent investigation.

Taxes to Become Delinquent Dec. 5

Payments of county taxes are being made with surprising rapidity and in substantial amounts, according to a report from the county tax collector's office yesterday.

Many taxpayers are paying both installments. There is every appearance that the aggregate in taxes on the first installment will equal that of previous years.

Time for payment of first installment of taxes expires on December 5. The second period opens on January 20 and taxes will become delinquent on April 20.

GOLDEN BEARS TO TANGLE WITH IDAHO VANDALS

BERKELEY, Nov. 16.—Idaho Vandals arrive tomorrow ready for their game Saturday with the Golden Bears of California at Memorial Stadium.

The visiting footballers will work at this afternoon on the stadium, but before Coach Leo B. Calland will try to call quits in his preparation for the game.

The Bears, having worked only two days this week, will more or less take the afternoon off, devoting the time to pre-"Big Game" pie-eating.

The Bears will meet the man they fear most on the Idaho team right off the bat, for Calland has decided, tentatively at least, to put Willis "Little Giant" Smith in for the kick-off, and Smith, being an extremely shifty runner, may cause trouble.

Coach W. A. "Bill" Ingram, California, has elected to start his "power" backfield, with big Ken Moeller at right half, 210-pound Al Thorell at fullback, and "Chuck" Cotton, driving 200-pounder, at left half. By way of contrast "Little Joe" Verducci, smallest man on the Bear squad will start as signal caller.

The Bears devoted Wednesday to reviewing the fundamentals of the game, after their two-day rest from practice. Blocking, tackling and kicking practice was long and strenuous. Work was lighter yesterday, but Ingram believes the team will go into Saturday's game with their minds but with Idaho upmost.

Before the Bears and Vandals take the field at 2 o'clock, the California Ramblers, having finished a highly successful season, will put on an exhibition game starting at 12:30 o'clock. The Ramblers will divide into two squads, and all indications are that the boys will "shoot the works" in their one home appearance of the season.

NEW CODE TO STABILIZE MILK PRICES

A newspaper advertising campaign to increase the per capita consumption of milk in the Alameda county metropolitan area is planned jointly by the Cooperative Dairyman's league and the Alameda County Milk Dealers association under the new Market Milk Agreement and License which becomes effective today, November 17.

Announcement of this fact was made by President Roy M. Pike of the league coincidentally with news that the Government license issued under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration had been received from Washington and that prices in this territory would be stabilized under it.

"We committed ourselves to the Government to rebuild per capita consumption of milk in East Bay cities," said Pike, "and have set up provision in our agreement for the expenditure of a quarter of a cent per pound butterfat for this purpose. This means a quarter of a cent from both producers and distributors. This fund will amount to about $1500.00 per month and is in addition to what the distributors will do in the way of advertising on their own account.

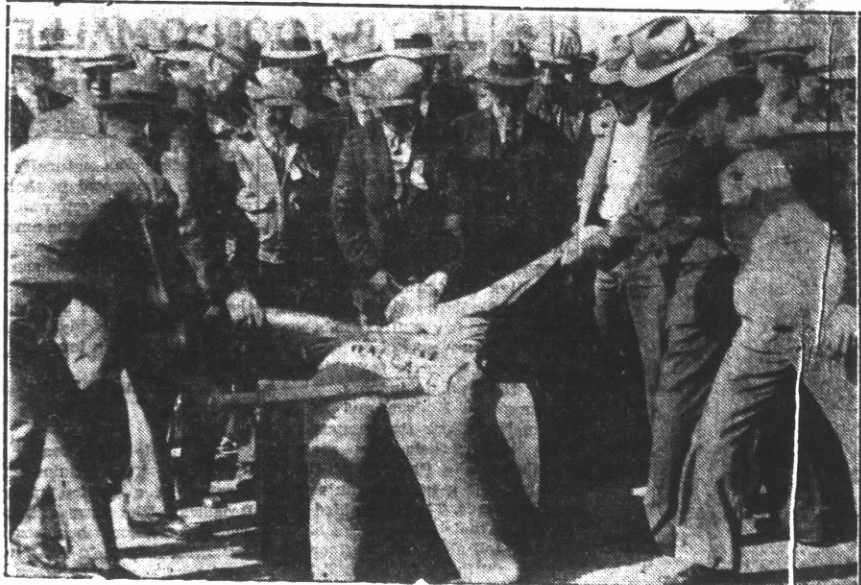

"We believe that the way to increase consumption is to do a real publicity job through newspaper advertising. While in Washington I discussed the matter with Dr. Clyde King, chief of the dairy section, and he felt that this was the thing to do, and the beauty of the situation is that such a campaign will help both the consumer and the producer, for milk is the most healthful food and the farmer will receive more money if he can sell more milk as whole milk.

"The Alameda county figures on decreased per capita consumption were a surprise to the Government people. They show that beginning early in 1926 there has been a steady decline in per capita consumption here. So that while the people of the East Bay used an average of 30 gallons per capita per year in 1926, this per capita consumption was reduced to 26.2 gallons by 1929 and 25.3 gallons by 1931. The reduction in per capita consumption was most rapid in the prosperous years between 1926 and 1929. During this same period per capita consumption of milk in the United States as a whole was on the increase.

"It is evident, therefore, that the people of Alameda county have not been doing their full duty either to themselves or to the back country, which supports these cities by using their full share of this most nutritious of foods.

"The new Government contract means on the present volume of milk that the farmers of the back country will receive approximately $250,000 more for their milk under the price of 5 cents per pound buttermilk than they were receiving at 51 cents, the old price. But there is the further great possibility that if we can build per capita consumption back to where it was in 1926, there would be an additional amount of about $600,000 a year for the farmers realized because of the superior price for market milk over manufacturing milk into which it has to go if not consumed as whole milk. At the same time the consumer would be benefitted by using more of this most important

Effigy of Wallace Paddled

THE FIGHTING temper of the disgruntled farmers of the Middle West is graphically illustrated as a group of strikers at Shepardsville, Ind., have a grand time paddling Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in effigy. Cold weather put a quietus on the strike after widespread disorders.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. Out in the wide open previous resentment Mississippi Valley the largest and People do not like his "cracking most fertile agricultural area in down" method. It smacks too the world, the Roosevelt administration much of the deflator. Johnson's tradition is suffering chiefly from trip has helped but by no means one big ball. It made the funds dried. The Blue Eagle is still on mental error of overselling itself the spot.

There have been other and The Agricultural Adjustment administration also is getting a lot of origin from the fact that last summer General Johnson set up a new machine which produced at least a dinosaur eggs, and then brought forth only ordinary hen fruit.

When folks out here were promised the millennium, a lot of them took it seriously. When the new word of Herbert Hoover "Prosperity is just around the corner" Add to this the stock market which boosted midsummer farm prices far beyond justification. Add also the increase in the prices of things the farmers buy, and you have the reason why a lot of people out here are sore, nearly everyone is dissatisfied and some are desperate.

NEW DEAL ENDANGERED
The success of the New Deal is seriously jeopardized. There is no doubt about it. Johnson's quick trip through the Middle West helped a little. In Chicago he made a good impression, but he made a long way to go before he could food, which all health authorities will agree.

"In this connection, I wish to say that the retail price of 11 cents in Oakland compares favorably with the price elsewhere in metropolitan areas of the United States. It is lower than it was last spring at the low point of the depression. The price is higher in many of the eastern cities by one and two cents, so that milk is very low priced in Oakland.

of the State Department to make a nominal charge, set in most cases by the Government Printing office, for public documents which it gives to private citizens. To officers of the State Department no charge is made.

Some time ago William R. Castle, Jr. came into the State Department's Bureau of Current Information and asked for a certain public document.

Mr. Castle had worked in the State Department fifteen years. He had worked his way up from the bottom to the key position of Under Secretary. For long periods he had served as acting Secretary of State.

But on March 4 he got out. He became a private citizen.

So the State Department clerk handed Mr. Castle the desired document and charged him fifteen cents.

PHILOSOPHER
To Bishop James Cannon, the report of the 18th Amendment was no death knell. The day after Utah voted he was out rallying his cohorts for new national prohibition amendment.

Addressing a Methodist congregation near Washington, he shouted: "Brethren, we betrayed our cause! We laid down our task. Now we must go ahead and do our work all over again!"

Cannon listed five causes as responsible for repeal: (1) False wet newspaper propaganda; (2) Lack of efficient federal enforcement; (3) Lack of cooperation from States; (4) Laziness of the Christian church; (5) Virtual solid Catholic opposition.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Hain Fish, notorious Russian-baiter, came down to the State Department to tell his old friend Asst. Sec. Moore that he was delivering a radio address against Russian recognition. Said Mr. Moore: "Well, Ham, I always listen to Amos and Andy and I'll listen to you too." Pat Hurley, Republican but staunch NRA supporter, finally has achieved the distinction of admittance to inner Democratic circles. Daisy Harrison invited him to one of her Democratic debating dinners. The hideaway where Secretary of War Denham likes to sleep in the afternoon is the old office of Trubee Davidson, former assistant secretary of war for aviation. Trubee took great pride in building up the Air Corps but his job was abolished.

When Assistant Director Hurley of the Bureau of Investigation held his recent confab with thirty-two prohibition supervisors in Washington on enforcement policies after repeal, he tried repeatedly to get his chief, J. Edgar Hoover, to address the agents. But the "Superdick" refused, declaring he could not spare the time.—Uruguayan Minister Varela, who once took a crack at the Argentine Secretary of State, is leaving the United States and probably will not come back—Varela was to have been president of the Montevideo Conference. # S. O. ANNUITY PLAN TO AID EMPLOYEES

A new annuity plan, providing for an annuity for life after retirement has been adopted by the company, to be effectuated in conjunction with one of the largest insurance companies of this country. The principle difference between the old and the new plan is that under the new plan the employees will contribute a part of the cost of the annuities whereas under the old plan the company paid the entire expense.

Important Plan

"As in the old plan, the yearly annuity under the new plan will be based on 2 percent of the employee's average annual earnings multiplied by the number of years of credited service, except that the annuity credits will be based on current earnings for the five years next preceding retirement.

"The company considers participation in the plan so important that new regular employees will be required to join as a condition of employment.

Old Workers

"Employees in service December 1, 1933 will not be required to join the plan, but those employees who have less than 20 years service on that date will receive annuity credits for their past service only if they join the new plan on or before December 15, 1933, and thereafter contribute.

"The entire cost of providing this annuity for service prior to December 1, 1933, under the new plan, will be paid for by the company. Thereafter it will be borne jointly by the company and the employee. The rate of contribution by the employee in service November 30, 1933, who joins the plan before December 15, 1933, will be 4 percent of his regular earnings, for new employees it will be from 4 percent to 7 percent, according to age. The contributions by the employee together with the credited interest thereon, on the average, will represent less than one-half of the principal sum required to provide that portion of his annuity accumulated after the inauguration of the new plan. The employee contributions will be deposited with the insurance company, which will thereupon become responsible for these contributions as well as for those deposited by the company with the insurance company.

All Relatives

"If the employee leaves the service of the company or dies before reaching retirement, he or his beneficiary will receive back his entire contributions, plus interest at the rate of three and a half percent, compounded annually. In the event of death after retirement but before the annuity payments equal the employee's contributions and interest to date of retirement, the difference will be refunded. Thus the plan is incidentally a medium for systematic saving. Under all circumstances the employee, his joint annuitant, if any, or his beneficiary will receive his contributions and interest to retirement date in full.

"To most employees a provision in the new plan permitting an employee to take a reduced amount of annuity during his lifetime after retirement to a designated survivor who must be a spouse or dependent relative, will be a very much welcomed method of providing for dependents.

"While the company expects to pay the balance of the cost of the annuities provided for in this new plan, over and above that portion of the cost paid by the employee, the company cannot guarantee future conditions, and it, therefore, reserves the right to suspend or discontinue its contributions at any time. It likewise retains the right reserved by it under the old pension plan to modify or terminate this plan as to all employees who have not been granted an annuity. Contributions by the company once deposited with the insurance company under the plan will be used only for providing the benefits contemplated by the plan, unless more than required therefor.

"The board of directors believes the plan to be sound and advantageous to the employees. The board hopes for universal acceptance and believes that there will be a spontaneous, enthusiastic response in keeping with the high intelligence of the personnel of this organization."

EXECUTORS ARE CITED IN ESTATE

MARTINEZ, Nov. 16. Acting upon petition of Florence Chaffee McLeod of San Francisco, Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie today has issued an order directing James F. Leahy and Milton T. Vanderslice to appear in his court on Monday, November 27, to show cause why they have not allegedly complied with the terms of the will of Vanderslice's sister, Mrs. Hermine Blanche Rudgear, who died May 23, 1930, leaving an estate that was inventoried at $1,178,188, and of which they are the executors.

Mrs. McLeod, represented by Attorney W. D. Brown of San Francisco, claims that the executors have failed to pay her for the past 14 months an allowance of $150 monthly that the will specifies and asks that they be required to show cause why they should not pay her forthwith, why they should not be required to file an accounting and take steps to set aside estate assets sufficient to meet her allowance and for "such other steps as are deemed necessary even to the extreme extent of removal of them as executors in view of their negligence as hereinbefore set forth."

The petition includes a charge that Leahy and Vanderslice, have been "negligent in management of the estate" and "have long neglected to file any account thereon" or "since December 23, 1931."

She asserts that Mrs. Rudgear's will bequeathed her $150 monthly for life but she has received but one monthly payment and that $2,100 is now due her.

She makes the accusation that the executors have failed to create a trust fund and that they have

27 Seamen Feared Lost In Big Gale

LONDON, Nov. 16.—UP—One of the worst disasters on the high seas in recent years was feared tonight as search for 27 men who abandoned the British freighter Saxilby was given up as hopeless.

The liner Berengaria, among the rescue ships which rushed through pounding seas and a heavy gale to the aid of the distressed freighter, radioed that the search was futile. The men had left the Saxilby, in lifeboats when the gale damaged the ship and it was believed sinking.

The Dutch steamer Boschdijk was the last to leave the search in the vicinity of where the Saxilby was last reported. The Boschdijk left after the captain of the Manchester Regiment, had radioed that he was proceeding on his previous course.

The latter's message said that lifeboats could not have survived the storm of the last 36 hours.

Unincorporated district: Seven miles of shoulder work on Castro road, Pinole Valley and Central Avenue.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF MILK PRICES EFFECTIVE TODAY UNDER AAA

Friday, Nov. 17, 1933, Milk Prices Will Be Established in the Alameda County Sales Area at:

WHOLESALE—9 CENTS PER QUART

RETAIL AT HOME OR AT STORE—11 CENTS PER QUART

The undersigned have been notified by Regional Manager Brice M. Mace, Agricultural Adjustment Administration (AAA), United States Department of Agriculture, that the License and Marketing Agreement for Milk for the Alameda County Milk Shed are now in effect, establishing prices as shown in the column adjoining for fluid milk distributed in the Alameda County Sales Area.

Accepting responsibility placed upon us by Paragraph 13 of the Agreement, we hereby give notice to all handlers of milk in the Alameda County Sales Area* of the fact that these prices have been established by both the Agreement and the License issued by Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace.

It is hoped that the fullest cooperation will be given in carrying out the terms of the Agreement and License, which are a part of the National Recovery Program.

Important—The License applies to everyone selling milk in the Alameda County Sales Area, whether or not he is a party to the agreement.

Those desiring same may obtain copies of the License by application to the undersigned:

Co-operative Dairymen's League,
1931 East Fourteenth St., Oakland, Calif.

Alameda Co. Milk Dealers' Ass'n
Pacific Building, Oakland, Calif.

Copies of License and Agreement also may be obtained by application to Regional Office, Agricultural Adjustment Administration
50 Battery Street, San Francisco

* The Alameda County Sales Area, where the prices are to prevail, is described in the Agreement and License as follows:
"Alameda County Sales Area" means the territory included within the towns and cities of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Piedmont, Emeryville, Albany, El Cerrito, Richmond, San Leandro and Hayward, California, and the territory within one mile of their respective corporate limits.

PRICE LIST Agreement and License

Following are Exhibits C and D from the Agreement and License relating to pricing:

Price Schedule for Distributors

(a) The prices set forth in the following schedule are based upon

* Cream shall be sold at wholesale in 10 or more gallon lots at 5c per pound butterfat over the San Francisco 92 score butter quotation.

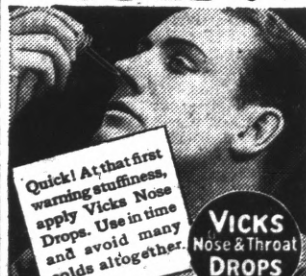

Milk sold from retail stores shall require a 3c deposit per bottle until same is returned.

EXHIBIT D

Rules of Fair Practice
No method or device shall be permitted whereby fluid milk is sold or offered for sale at a price less than that stated in Schedule C, whether by any discount, rebate, free service, or advertising allowance, or a combined price for each milk together with another commodity whether sold or offered for sale separately or otherwise.

Note—A price of 2 1/2 cents to stores was established in the Agreement and License. However, contracting distributors felt stores were entitled to 2 cents per quart for handling milk and therefore, as provided for on page 13 of the Agreement they have established the wholesale price to stores at 5 cents "during the first 30 days in which the Agreement is in effect."

Your Good HEALTH

By CLAUD N. CHRISTMAN, M.D.

Sweating of the Hands And Feet Requires Special Treatment

THE term "hyperhidrosis" means excessive sweating of the whole or parts of the body. Sweating of the whole body is usually the result of some systemic disturbance, such as over-fat and at other times nervousness. It sometimes occurs over areas supplied by a single nerve trunk. Excessive sweating of the hands and feet is extremely annoying and particularly so with the soles of the feet. The feet are usually cold and are often red and sodden with an increase in the growth of the horny layer as in a callous causing great discomfort and pain in walking.

THOSE affected are often of a nervous disposition and may be below par in general health. This condition is likely to come and go. They are often free from the condition for some time and then without any apparent cause it will return. Persons so afflicted suffer a great deal with chilblains and frost bite and are very susceptible to colds and do not endure cold weather well. The treatment is first systemic. Any local or focal infection should be removed. The general health should be carefully observed and any condition which may reduce the vitality or irritate the nervous system should be removed if possible.

FRESH air and exercise are imperative. Sunshine probably stimulates some of the vitamin contents of the food and helps control the condition. Some preparation of iron internally is usually indicated. Cod liver oil may aid in building up the general health. Local applications are necessary. The feet and hands should be washed frequently. A solution of alum or zinc sulphate, one teaspoonful to a pint of water is good. If the surfaces are not raw try equal parts of alcohol and water with same amount of alum or zinc sulphate. These should be used once or twice a day. The surface carefully dried and then dusted with a powder of Boric acid with one or two per cent of salicylic acid.

ANOTHER good application is a 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride in water. This is irritating and must be used carefully, just dabbing a little on the parts once or twice a day for several days. This usually stops sweating promptly but in all cases it may return and treatment must be resumed. The most effective and lasting treatment is the cautious exposure to X-rays. The sweating can be stopped by its use to the extent necessary, but of course this use must be carefully watched by an expert. It can be used once every two or three days until condition is relieved and can be repeated at any time when signs of return appear.

BROMIDROSIS is sweat with an offensive odor. It may be due to alterations in the composition of the sweat or decomposition after excretion. It is almost always accompanied by hyperhidrosis. It may be due to constitutional diseases, such as rheumatism, scurvy, uremia and often in acute fevers as typhoid, influenza and measles. The penetrating odor of some foods such as sulphur, onions and garlic may appear temporarily in the sweat. It is rarely very unpleasant except with the feet, when in extreme cases it bars the afflicted person from close contact with society.

THE general condition is treated as is hyperhidrosis, but the feet must be treated with antiseptics. Use potassium permanganate, one grain to the ounce of water twice a day. It stains but is good. Bichlorid solution 1 to 1000 (poison) is often successful. Frequent washing of stockings and rinsing in boric acid or shoes is advised. Also the wearing of large and loose shoes.

Spirits of Ammonia. Aromatic spirits of ammonia is a temporary stimulant and in fainting and other forms of unconsciousness, revives the heart and breathing until the doctor can come to diagnose the trouble. The best way to administer it is to mix one teaspoon in a glass of water and give the person one teaspoon every 15 minutes until the condition is relieved. It can be used to inhale in the nostrils in cases of fainting or collapse. A rubber cork should be used in this bottle.

GOOD POSTURE AID IN MAKING BODY GRACEFUL

By JACQUELINE HUNT

TALL or short, fat or thin, beauty or ugly duckling, there is one problem that is troubling all of you right now—your hips. Nipped-in waists and tricky shoulders of the newest dresses make the hips more conspicuous than ever. No matter how well proportioned your figure is otherwise, if your hips—or rather the region lower down—ride out behind, your silhouette is anything but the present ideal.

Large and ungraceful hips do not mean excess weight in a large percentage of the cases, so dieting does little to improve them. Large hips are usually a matter of habit—a bad, lazy habit of letting your back slump so your shoulders and stomach sag forward. Hold your stomach in, light and fat against your backbone, raise your chest, and your spine naturally assumes the position that gives you graceful carriage and the line that is so charming.

Start today, stand before a mirror and practice holding your tummy in where it belongs, your body stretched as tall as you can stretch it and your pelvis in its proper place. You will find that the protruding stomach, sway back and large hips disappear. Keep your straight, pleasing line by developing your muscles sufficiently to hold your pelvis and the organs it supports in place. Will power! That is what you need to train those hips to stay in place! To get your muscles loosened up, place a chair with its back to the wall and about a foot away. Practice "squeezing" through the space until you can do it easily without holding your knees stiff, until your muscles feel like lead and your body under perfect control. Now train the muscles of your lower trunk to hold your body that way without any conscious effort.

Stand with your back and shoulders squarely against the wall, your feet from four to twelve inches away from it. Lean or rather push—the curved portion of your back, that between your waist and shoulder blades, against the wall and wiggle and squirm until your "hips" also touch the wall. When you can keep all parts touching, easily and naturally, with nothing tense in the position, try holding that position, squat and return, sliding the back up and down the wall. This may sound like a silly exercise, but it is a good one for training your hips to stay where they belong.

Now, down on the floor! Spread out a thin quilt and practice lying on the floor, every part of your spine touching, if possible. Raise your right knee up toward your chin, pulling it down hard as though to press your thigh and backbone together. Kick and straighten the right leg, lower it and raise the left. Repeat several times with each leg.

This one is not as easy as it sounds! Place the palms of the hands on a floor joist on a level with the chest and place the toes of the left foot against the jamb to pull the body into the proper line. Now swing the right leg upward and forward, raising it from the hip and keeping the knee rigid. Raise the leg as high as possible without discomfort. Hold for a moment, relax and drop the foot to the floor. Repeat with the other leg—ten times for each one.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "At a dinner recently, I noticed that the hostess was served first, and then the guests. Is this correct?"—O. P.

ANSWER: The hostess may be served first, then the ones on her right. A better plan is to vary the order of service with each course, so that the same person is not served last all the time.

QUESTION: "May a salad fork be used for fish in the absence of a fish fork?"—Mrs. L. T.

ANSWER: In such a case, it would be better to use a regular meat fork. A fish fork follows the shape of a meat fork, the only difference being that it is slightly smaller. A fish knife also is slightly smaller than a meat knife. Therefore, unless you have small knives to go with the small salad forks, it would be better to use meat forks and meat knives. The knife and fork should match to facilitate handling.

PROFILES For Today

By IRVING VAIL

Rumania's Lucky Man, Titulescu... Statesman And Diplomat

RUMANIA'S most brilliant statesman is also her most popular man.

When he was a youngster of 18 years, Nicholas Titulescu, a native of Rumania, came to the League of Nations and also became a member of the Rumanian parliament. He had his name engraved in gold letters upon a tablet in the high school of his home town of Chioara. This was in recognition of his scholarship through his high school career.

He lived up to this brilliant record of his younger days by studying law at the Sorbonne, with distinction, and becoming a much-sought lawyer on his return to Rumania. At thirty-two, he was offered a professorship in Jassy University. Teaching offered a man of Titulescu's energy little opportunity for action, so he entered the political arena.

In the field of politics his brilliance won him important government posts. He was chamberlain in 1912; Minister of Finance in the Bratianu Cabinet during the war, unofficial adviser of the Rumanian peace delegation at Versailles; shortly after the war, Minister of Finance; Minister to England in 1922; Rumania's permanent representative at the League of Nations; twice chairman of the League Assembly, and twice Foreign Minister of his country.

TITULESCU'S luck is somewhat proverbial. It smiled on him even in such a sticky problem as Rumania's relations with the League of Nations. In the beginning, his position was not very enviable in this respect. The Bessarabian question proved too much for even his diplomatic talents, and Rumania's relations with its big neighbor to the east were not always so cordial.

It was early in the present year that a change came about, and this was more or less a lucky break. Russia, partly on account of Japanese pressure in the Far East and partly on account of the anti-Bolshevik tendencies of the Hitler regime in Germany, was more ready than before to come to terms with Rumania. Following the London Economic Conference, therefore, Titulescu was able to bring about the so-called Litvinoff Pact, which, although solving the Bessarabian problem, at least shelved it for the time being.

But Titulescu's greatest triumph came in connection with his work in the League of Nations. For years he had struggled with Hungary's Great Old Man, Count Apponyi. The battle ended in a draw, but the polemics of these two brilliant orators will go down in the history of the League as some of the finest speeches ever heard before this international forum.

Although his keen and quick wit is recognized, Titulescu's vision was not so easily fooled. Often his ideas seem tortuous, but most of his actions are guided by plans which mature only in the remote future. He prepared his plans carefully and long in advance, weighing this and that, so that his ideas appeared more intricate than they really were.

However, like any other politician, Titulescu is often swayed and influenced by personal ambition and for entirely egotistical reasons. Extremely sensitive to personal attacks, he is no stickler for form or method when he is trying to squirm out of a situation. But he thinks so fast and is able to grasp the importance of a situation so quickly that there are few of his own countrymen or diplomats from other nations who can outwit him.

Did You Know? Do not shell peas too long in advance of cooking. It kills their flavor.

White furs should be kept in blue tissue paper when not in use to prevent their becoming yellow.

Don a dust cap when frying food and avoid that cooking smell in your hair.

A black marble clock may be polished to a beautiful luster by wiping over with olive oil and then polishing with a clean chamois.

To clean glazed chintz curtains sponge off lightly with a rubber sponge dipped in a mild lukewarm solution of soap suds. First remove all dust from curtains.

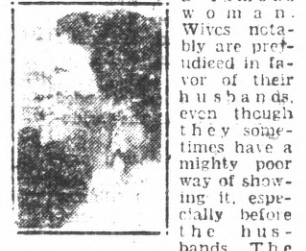

Do not take foods such as croquettes that have been prepared and placed in refrigerator and put in hot fat. Let stand in room temperature for at least 30 minutes.

LAME NEED NOT SPOIL HARMONY OF FAMILY LIFE

By MARIAN MAYN MARTIN

THE position of a woman married to a famous man is one that requires delicate handling. The only position more hazardous is that of being a husband of a famous woman.

MRS. MARTIN

Wives notably are preferred in favor of their husbands, even though they sometimes have a mighty poor way of showing it. It is especially before the husbands. The average woman finds herself married to a celebrity might not enjoy her position, having, perhaps, an inferiority complex. The chances are, however, that she would secretly glory in the idea that a great man had chosen her for his mate out of all the women he knew.

WHAT, then, would your reaction be to a wife who took her famous husband with more than a grain of salt? At a dinner party, she declared she did not feel especially flattered by being chosen by her husband. She happened to see the kind of woman, she insisted, who if she found herself married to the King of England, would not be surprised or consider it extraordinary.

INCLINED to put her husband in his place, don't you think, and to attract attention to herself? Certainly not content to bask in his reflected glory, it's perfectly easy to understand how a woman of great personality might resent being overshadowed by her husband's fame, but in her personality, rather than her gifts, should safeguard her position.

A MAN is not, so they tell us, a hero to his own valet, but a famous man is a famous man, for all his valet's opinion of him. His wife certainly should know the last one to underestimate his qualities. Even though she did not personally think him such great shakes, it is certainly up to her—in public at least—to see that his halo is not askew. Not that all celebrities are nice people, really, or easy to live with, but being married to a celebrity makes one part of the show. One should know one's role and not either try to steal the show, or to step out of character.

MIGHT it not be, that a wife who had such a cavalier attitude toward her celebrated husband, would prefer to be married to a man whose mental attainments were inferior to hers? Would one not think that she preferred the lead in the domestic comedy? Such an attitude of mind results in some curious marriages, usually women of that type marry beneath their level and spend the rest of their lives queening it over their husbands, and their small world. The husband supplies the background and the where-withal to run the show, otherwise he would be entirely unimportant.

BUT you simply can't queen it over a celebrated husband, because even though he might let you, which isn't likely, the world certainly would not. Hostesses just devour them. They invite their mates because they must. Their usual attitude toward the wife is one of the milder-what-he-ever-saw-in-his-vary.

THIS feline angle makes it rather more important than ever for the wife to be so entirely charming that she can never be bracketed among the we-can't-ask-him-without-their-class. She should make people as eager to have her as to have her husband. Being silly enough to overrate herself, or overestimate her own beauty or charm does not quite seem the way to do about it. It opens the way to ridicule.

MEN who find themselves merely the husband of 50-then-and-so have a far worse time of it. They need a very special sort of consideration from their friends, and from the world at large. No matter how much in love with their famous wives they may be, the situation is an awkward one. Nevertheless, it would not occur to the man to attempt to bring it home to the assembled multitude that, after all, she wasn't so much, and that lots bigger fish had nibbled at his net. He would say that really she was lucky to have landed him. A man would stand pat, and let the world discover, as the scoundrel into a frame of mind where he wants to overcome the habit, is half the battle.

At night or when he is sleepy, let's remember that a child is not responsible for his actions. Let's take his fingers out of his mouth gently, and tuck both hands under the covers or sleepers bag. For if he can't get at his hands he won't and he won't hold it against us.

Tasty Dishes for Today

ITALIAN FOOD ATTRACTS MEN

By JUDITH WILSON

AMERICAN cookery is becoming more cosmopolitan in character since the favorite foods of other nations are to be found in the markets of almost any city, large or small. And it is a good thing—it adds adventure as well as new gustatory delights to those who are willing to experiment with the variety of vegetables, seasonings, cheeses, fruits and pastes that a few years ago were available only in the foreign sections of the largest cities.

About the most widely known and enjoyed recipes are those that come from the Italians. One reason is probably that the Italian dishes are easier to prepare than many others. The ingredients are to be found in any grocery store—and their methods of preparing many foods are similar to our own.

Ravioli Filling. To make the filling chop one-half pound veal, one pound of pork, three ounces of sweetbreads and three small onions and cook together slowly for about an hour. Peel a piece of calves' brains, roll in flour and fry in butter for ten minutes. Cook one pound of cleaned spinach for five minutes, drain and fry in butter to which a clove of garlic has been added. Put the three mixtures through the fine knife of your food chopper, add four eggs, one cup finely ground stale bread crumbs, a pinch of nutmeg and salt and pepper. Add a pint of chicken stock and boil for ten minutes stirring constantly.

A generous serving of ravioli will take the place of meat on your menu if you wish. When the little squares are well done, drain them and cover with a tomato or mushroom sauce and grated Parmesan cheese.

Chicken Tetrazzini. Here is the recipe for a typical Italian chicken dish—chicken Tetrazzini. Boil a three-pound chicken in very little water until tender. When it is cold, remove the meat from the bones and cut in small square pieces. Slice a half pound of fresh mushrooms and cook them in a pan with a quarter of a pound of butter for five minutes. Put in the diced chicken meat, season with salt and pepper and add a pint of cream. Let it simmer for five minutes.

Mix two teaspoons of flour with a little butter and stir it into the cream until the mixture is smooth and thick, then add two tablespoons of cooking wine—Sherry and white wine mixed. Meanwhile boil a quarter of a pound of spaghetti in salted

You and Your Child

CURING CHILD'S THUMB-SUCKING

By JANE HERBERT COWARD

THUMB-SUCKING is considered to be a bad habit and is usually interpreted. But it is not so simple. The child is not so much a habit as a habit. The child is not so much a habit as a habit.

When making coffee, measure it out on a heaping tablespoon to the cup and add one level spoonful of the coffee. If the coffee and water are always measured, the coffee will be uniformly good.

If the head of the house is an apple pie addict, you can treat him to a change in pie without depriving him of his apple. Make him a crapple pie. It is well worth a trial. Cut into small pieces, but do not pare the crab-apples.

The habit of infancy. Many babies develop the habit while they are teething. The presence of the fingers in the mouth pressing against the gums is a source of relief from pain. Sucking follows involuntarily. Therefore, when a child is teething, take his fingers out of his mouth and buy him a bone teething ring to bite.

Even so, he probably will alternate between his fingers and the teething bone. But leave him alone. During this period, he is passing through a stage of his life. The idea is not to scold nor spank but to remove the baby's hands from his mouth matter-of-factly and hand him a toy.

How Parent Can Help. Thumb guards and other mechanical devices for breaking children of the habit of sucking are a hardship on the child and not nearly so effective as sleepers. Bags for night use and an appeal for a child's co-operation during the daytime. So many parents antagonize their children by nagging and imposing physical restraints, when just to

ANNUAL MEET OF CHAMBER ON WEDNESDAY

The Richmond Chamber of Commerce will be host to a number of outstanding men from other communities, with Joseph R. Knowland, first vice-president of the State Chamber of Commerce, as the speaker of the evening, when the annual meeting is held next Wednesday, according to announcement by P. M. Sanford, president of the local Chamber.

Knowland will talk on matters of current interest with application to state-wide problems as well as those which are strictly local. The title of his address will be announced later.

The meeting will be in the form of a dinner at Hotel Carouge at 6:30 in the evening and will be attended by the membership of the Richmond Chamber, members of the public and distinguished visitors from other nearby cities and counties, including Congressman Albert S. Carter of Oakland, who now includes this county in his district, and who will be called upon for a brief report on matters of interest to his constituency in Richmond and Contra Costa county.

Sanford will act as chairman, calling upon a number of committee leaders on matters of interest to his constituency in Richmond and Contra Costa county.

Sanford will act as chairman, calling upon a number of committee leaders to sum up their activities for the past year. Sanford himself will give a sketch of the activities and achievements of the Chamber during the last 12 months and will forecast the nature of the Chamber program during the year ahead.

The special arrangements committee including Clifford Douglas, Joseph Miller and C. C. Kratzer are completing plans for the presence of outstanding visitors from other cities, and also for a musical program to be interspersed with the speaking numbers.

The members will nominate directors from the floor to fill the terms of those directors whose terms are drawing to a close, and are E. M. Downer, Fred Caudle, Aubrey Wilson, T. Emmett Ward, Henry A. Johnston, C. S. Renwick,

The second play "Thursday Evening" by Christopher Morley, is a tale of matrimonial troubles of Laura and Gordon Johns, difficulties which are not helped by the intervention of the two mothers, Mrs. Johns and Mrs. Sheffield. The scene of the play is in the kitchen of the newlyweds' house during a visit from their mothers. The couple are busy washing dishes when the curtain rises.

The cast is as follows:
Laura—Alberta Hill
Gordon—Alden Pratt
Mrs. Johns—Elsie Beck
Mrs. Sheffield—La Roma Zundel
Both plays are under the direction of Mrs. Pehrson.

The intermediate number on the program "The Spanish Fiesta" has a cast of twenty-one. This includes two solo dancers, two tango dancers and an accordion soloist. The remainder of the cast comprise the chorus. The complete cast of the number is:

Accordion—Theresa Ghisio
Solo Dancers—Mary Jean Lawell and Mary Blenel
Tangos—Heen White and Fay Marcy

Chorus—Rose Bartolo, Mary Rovello, Norman Case, Frances Wilson, Dorothy Vichone, Muriel Dugan, Phyllis Tandy, Annie Ausch, Annie Maron, Bill Lane, Edward Freyhold, Charles Brownlow, Lloyd Pearson, Norman Robinson, Stanley Mayer, George Covell, Candida Zanzi and Fay Marcy.

An orchestra made up of the following students will furnish music for the dances:

Theresa Ghisio—Piano

THOMAS H. THURMOND, left, who yesterday confessed that he and a companion killed Brooke Hart, (extreme right), wealthy young Santa Clara county youth in an abortive kidnaping attempt. Thurmond and his companion were brought to San Francisco last night to prevent an angry mob from lynching them. Center is the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hart, parents of the slain youth, at Santa Clara. The parents are in collapse as a result of the brutal slaying of the youth.

the pair killed the youth in fear of detection.

He paralleled the kidnaping and killing with the abduction and murder of the Lindbergh baby.

"Apparently Hart didn't have a chance," he said.

Body Being Hunted

Before making the confession public the sheriff, secret service operatives and city police went to the bridge and with ladders and grappling hooks sought to find the body. It was still missing tonight.

The grim climax of California's first major kidnaping came as Hart's father, Alexander J. Hart, his two debutante sisters, a brother and his ailing mother, made another public appeal to the kidnappers to return young Brooke.

"Bring him back," they said in effect. "We will negotiate and we promise secrecy and immunity."

Both Men Unemployed

Last night Thurmond placed the call from the garage. Secret service operatives were on him like a flash.

Thurmond said he met Holmes a year ago. Six weeks ago, he declared, Holmes approached him with the kidnaping plot. Both had been unemployed. Thurmond was separated from his wife and was "ready for anything."

They accosted the 22 year old business executive as he approached his car.

Blames Companion

"We stopped about a half mile out on the bridge," Thurmond said. Then he blamed Holmes, instead of himself, for the killing. "We made Hart get out and Holmes took him to the rear of the car," he said. "I had brought along a brick. I gave this to Holmes and he hit Hart on the head. Hart hollered 'help, help' but Holmes let him have it again and knocked him out. I bound him with some more baling wire and we took hold of him, lifted him to the railing and dumped him into the bay."

Holmes' confession came several hours after Thurmond's. He denied hitting Hart with a brick.

Denies Slugging Hart

"When we got out of the car on the bridge he fell and struck his head on a station. Thurmond bound him with more wire, then he lifted him up and tossed him into the bay."

Thurmond recalled that as they lifted Hart he "struggled slightly."

$40,000 ransom. I got a call through about 10:30 p.m. from the Whitcomb hotel. Some man at 7 p.m. he said and by answered, then a girl answered. I told them Hart had been kidnaped and that we wanted $40,000. I told them that if they called in police he would be killed.

"I still had Hart's wallet and I walked down to the waterfront and tossed it into the bay."

Wallet Is Found

The wallet was found aboard a small fuel tug which had serviced the Matson liner Lurline before it sailed for Los Angeles and Honolulu. It led to a search of the Lurline for Hart when the boat docked at Los Angeles.

Thurmond's next move was to telephone Mr. Hart and tell him his son had been kidnaped and that we wanted

Take Boy's Money

"He only had a five dollar bill and two and a half in silver," he said. "We divided the money and I kept the wallet. Then we drove to San Jose and separated. By agreement I went to San Francisco to telephone Mr. Hart and

Hold Meeting

Thurmond and Holmes met again the next day, Thurmond related, Holmes, he said, gave him a printed letter to mail to the elder Hart. It directed him to place a card bearing the numeral "1" in a display window of his store if he was ready to negotiate. He mailed over to the state for trial.

the missive in San Francisco.

"The next day we went to the store," he said. "The card was in the window all right. That night Holmes called Charlie O'Brien, Jr., a personal friend of Brooke's and gave O'Brien a message to deliver to Mr. Hart. We demanded action. Hart was to take a satchel containing the money and drive his son's car toward Los Angeles."

Fails To Keep Fact

Thurmond said the merchant failed to drive out along the road.

"I telephoned and asked why he hadn't," Thurmond said. "He said he wanted proof we had his son. I warned him he'd better bring the money and do as we said. Nothing was done then until yesterday, we mailed another letter and repeated earlier orders."

Father Is Stricken

Hart, listed as "San Jose's most prominent citizen," fell unconscious when given the tragic news by Max Blum, a business competitor. Mrs. Hart who has been prostrated since her son's disappearance, also collapsed and physicians were summoned to administer to her.

The kidnaping was the first of a major nature in California since 1928. Under the new Federal kidnaping law it drew Department of Justice agents into the chase. They combined with city, state and county authorities but had reached their wits end when the telephone call was intercepted.

State to Get Case

Sheriff Emig and others received with joy news from Washington that the government may turn the prisoners over to the state for trial.

Hotel Men To Conform With Laws

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16.—UP—Fifty hotel owners who met here today with the state board of equalization to discuss liquor control problems agreed at conclusion of the closed meeting tonight to conform with the law enacted by the legislature and regulations of the board of equalization.

The hotelmen were particularly interested in provisions of the present law which deny them the right to serve hard liquor with meals.

They indicated by going on record for strict observance of the present law, that petitions to call a vote of the people on liberalization of the control act might be dropped.

Local Woman To Be Given Final Rites

Mrs. Genevieve Cull, of 2112 Placer street, died at her home yesterday afternoon following a short illness.

Deceased was 61 years of age. She was a native of Boston and had lived in California 30 years. She came to Richmond 19 years ago.

She is survived by her husband John Cull, also of Richmond.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel. Cremation will be at Oakland.

SOUTHERN MARYLAND TOBACCO
U. S. Type 32.

U. S. Type 11 is produced in the Piedmont Belt of Virginia and part of North Carolina.

U. S. Type 12 is produced in eastern North Carolina.

U. S. Type 13 grows in South Carolina.

U. S. Type 14 is produced mostly in southern Georgia—a few million pounds in northern Florida and Alabama.

U. S. Type 31 includes what is called White Burley tobacco. It was first produced by George Webb in 1864. It is light in color and body, and is milder than the Burley used for pipes.

U. S. Type 32, Maryland tobacco, is noted for its "burn". In this respect Maryland excels most other tobaccos.

These are the kinds of home-grown tobaccos used for making Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Then Chesterfield adds aromatic Turkish tobacco to give just the right seasoning or spice.

Chesterfield ages these tobaccos for 30 months—2½ years—to make sure that they are milder and taste better.
